

PARENTING YOUR VIDEO GAMER

You're not alone if you don't really understand what's going on when your child games or whether the games they're playing are right for them.

Join us on the 9th November for an enlightening Zoom session with Daniel Donahoo, an expert at the crossroads of education, technology, games, and play. Daniel will cover:

- How to help your child get the most out of gaming
- Tips for minimizing the risks of negative gaming behavior.
- Discover what your child can teach you about gaming and why participating is beneficial.

You'll be able to ask questions, share experiences, and hear other parents' experiences and ideas.

Suitable for families with children aged 11-16 years
